

2022 PIG DINNER BIO

Scott Moore

Brother Scott Moore was born in Ames, Iowa, and graduated from Ames High School in 1986. After a 'challenging' first semester at Iowa State, Scott enlisted in the US Navy. During his time in the Navy, he was responsible for the operation and maintenance of a nuclear reactor aboard the submarine SSBN 627, the USS James Madison. He was on active patrol during the First Persian Gulf War, and received his honorable discharge after 6 years of service.

Brother Moore returned to Iowa State in the spring of 1993 where he began his degree studies in biochemistry. During that time, he met Brother Joe Falk in a chemistry class, and they became good friends quickly. Initially, Scott was hesitant to even visit the Chapter house, as he had thrown rocks and eggs at it while in junior high. After meeting the men in the house, and learning much more about the benefits of fraternity life, Scott was spending more time at the Phi Gam house than his own home. Thus, he asked for and received a bid, and became one of the oldest pledges ever.

Scott became a Phi Gam in January, 1996, thanks in particular to some timely advice from Brother Erik King. During his undergrad years, he served as rush chairman and Chapter Treasurer.

After graduation, Brother Moore pursued several research jobs, and eventually ended up in graduate school at Iowa State University, where he received one masters degree in nutritional science and another masters degree in science education. Brother Moore began teaching high school chemistry, biology, anatomy, and physical science in 2008. He has taught at West Des Moines Valley, Ankeny, Ankeny Centennial, and currently teaches in Johnston, Iowa. In addition, Brother Moore has coached track and cross country for the last 13 years for the teams at his schools.

As a graduate, Brother Moore was a member of House Corporation, the A.I. Purple Legionnaire, and Section Chief. He is also a member of the 5 Ekklesai Club. One of his most memorable Ekklesai was in Pittsburgh, where he managed to get most of the A.I. graduate delegation to 'volunteer' for a ride in the paddy wagon from downtown back to the hotel.

Brother Moore lives in Des Moines with his 15-year-old dog, Madison.
